Irane Man

Homayoun Shajarian is one of the most famous and best Persian classical singers of his generation and a superb instrumentalist. He is just as in his element with classical Iranian music as he is with pop or rock music. Irane man concert offers a mix of Persian classical and Western music, arranged and composed by the brothers Sohrab and Tahmores Pournazeri who are also in the band. Homayoun performed alongside his father Mohammad-Reza Shajarian for a long time in various groups and formats as a singer and tombak player before his own career took off. Sohrab Pournazeri is a virtuoso tanbur and kamanche player. His mastery of instrumental technique and classic Iranian musical language has resulted in collaborations with artists from around the world – in particular from China and the United States. In 2014, the two musicians released the album Heavy Makeup, which received immediate critical praise. Backed up by a group of outstanding musicians, Shajarian and Pournazeri will be combining their respective talents to offer a thrilling line-up of traditional songs. Irane man Album was released at 2018 as one of the best sellers in Iranian music. After outsold houses during the Europe Tour 2019, it's time again for a new Europe tour of the superstar with his 15 man band and virtues brothers Tahmoures and Sohrab Pournazeri with his side.
